The definitive critique of Tails within blackpill forums is that every single layer of his personality, intellect, and worldview is that of a textbook, absolute "normie" halfwit moron. Tails is said to represent the ultimate "midwit archetype": an individual who possesses just enough basic literacy to parrot academic studies, but completely lacks the raw, radical, and genuinely detached perspective required to understand the deeper aspects of human existence. The community argues that if you strip away the edgy blackpill info, his core personality is completely indistinguishable from a generic mainstream Redditor, a standard college student, or a safe corporate drone.

1. The Archetype of the "Reddit Atheist": Superficial Rebellion, National Socialist LARPing, and Historical Ignorance

Forum users do not view Tails' atheism as a sign of deep philosophical courage or a harrowing realization of cosmic isolation. Instead, they view it as the most basic, conformist, and cliché position a modern, secular person can adopt. Within these spaces, he is routinely mocked as a "classic Reddit-tier atheist"—someone who thinks denying the existence of God makes them a towering intellectual giant, when in reality, they are just following the dominant cultural trend of the Western middle class.

- The Existential Cowardice of Materialism: Hardcore forum thinkers argue that when the blackpill is thought out to its absolute logical extreme, it leads to an inevitable metaphysical conclusion: the sheer, brutal mathematical precision of biological determinism and the horrific depth of human suffering prove that this flawed material realm cannot be all there is. To true purists, the terrifying order of nature implies a higher architect, a spiritual reality, or a cosmic prison keeper (often leading to Gnostic or traditionalist worldviews that recognize a higher power). Because Tails remains safely anchored in sterile, comfortable atheism, the community views him as a truly stupid and cowardly halfwit. They argue he is genuinely terrified to delve outside of safe, mainstream secular boundaries, clinging to a basic "normie" worldview to shield his fragile mind from the true spiritual terrors of existence.
- The Nationalist Backlash & Historical Delusion: A massive rift exists between Tails and the heavily nationalist/far-right factions within incel forums. Because Tails frequently expresses extreme nationalist or ethno-nationalist views, religious or traditionalist nationalists on the forums ruthlessly attack him for his atheism. These critics point out a glaring historical contradiction: Tails aligns with and praises authoritarian, far-right historical figures and totalitarian regimes (including Adolf Hitler's National Socialist regime), yet he fails to understand that these regimes actively rejected and persecuted strict, secular, godless materialism. Nationalist critics mock Tails as a delusional LARPer, pointing out that ethnonationalists like Hitler-whose regime he claims to support-openly condemned atheism and viewed godless materialists as subversives who corrupted the spiritual fabric of the state. Hardcore forum nationalists tell Tails directly that under the very historical regimes he idealizes, his dogmatic, secular "Reddit atheist" worldview would mark him as an enemy of the state. They argue that instead of being celebrated, a godless materialist like Tails would have been lined up against the wall and shot, or thrown straight into a concentration camp. This makes his ideology not only unoriginal but completely hypocritical and historically illiterate.

2. "Science" Worshipper & Blind Institutional Trust

Tails builds his entire internet persona on quoting peer-reviewed studies, evolutionary psychology papers, and statistical graphs. While his casual YouTube audience sees this as objective journalism, many people on forums find it deeply embarrassing, viewing it as a massive sign of low-IQ conformity and mental weakness. They argue that Tails does not actually possess critical thinking; he has merely replaced traditional religious dogma with a blind, unquestioning worship of modern academic institutions.

- The Blind Spot of Academic Elitism: The core forum base views mainstream institutional science as a fundamentally corrupt, "bluepilled" apparatus designed to uphold societal order and medicalize the suffering of marginalized men. By treating a university study or a government statistic as absolute, infallible scripture, Tails proves he is a total halfwit moron who cannot think outside the system.
- The "Science-Cope": Critics argue that his heavy reliance on charts and figures is a defense mechanism for a fragile ego. They assert that Tails is emotionally too weak to handle the raw, chaotic, and unquantifiable nature of reality, so he hides behind a wall of clinical, sterile language to make himself feel safe and supreme. Forum posters call this "scientism" and mock him for blindly believing all mainstream "studies" as absolute gospel. They view that as a sign of utter inability to produce original thought. To them, a true intellectual questions the biases of the institutions producing the data. A dimwit normie moron on the other hand, blindly swallows the data just because it has a university logo stamped on it.

3. Academic Degree Elitism and Superiority Complex

One of the most intensely despised aspects of Tails's personality is his implicit and explicit tendency to look down on people who lack formal academic credentials. In his content and community interactions, he frequently dismisses critiques or counterarguments from individuals who do not possess degrees, treating the uneducated or the self-taught as intellectually inferior and unqualified to speak.

- The "Credentialist" Moron: Forum members ruthlessly tear into him for this trait, stating that only a total, absolute normie believes a piece of paper from a university dictates a person's intelligence or worth. They argue that his arrogance perfectly mirrors the exact type of "normie establishment" that gatekeeps, shuns, and gaslights lonely men. To the community, his degree fetishism proves that his brain is entirely colonized by mainstream, bourgeois thinking. He doesn't want to dismantle or expose the system; he wants to use the system's own hierarchy to feel superior to the desperate people watching his videos.

4. Mainstream Diet Dogma, Institutional Calorie Worship, and Nutritional Illiteracy

When Tails addresses health, diet, or fat loss, his worldview shrinks down to the most boring, reductionist, and safely institutional dogma: a rigid, mainstream "Calories In, Calories Out" (CICO) framework. He completely shuns, ridicules, and actively demeans any alternative nutritional perspectives—such as the vital role of nutrient density, animal fats, or ancestral eating. Within his platform, he functions as a dietetic tyrant, outright deleting any comments or discussions that highlight the health benefits of meat-heavy diets or advocate for unpasteurized, nutrient-dense raw milk.

- Ignoring the Real-World Experience of Ex-Vegans: The core irony of Tails's arrogant dismissal is that a massive portion of his own viewer base consists of ex-vegans and hardcore health experimenters. These are men who have spent years testing extreme, restrictive dietary paradigms on their own bodies, destroying their health on plant-based trends, and discovering through raw, firsthand physical experience the life-saving, hormone-restoring power of animal fats, heavy meat consumption, and raw dairy. Tails completely ignores this hard-won real-world evidence, choosing instead to lecture and censor his audience like a textbook bureaucrat.
- The Stupidity of Pure Calorie Reduction: The community ruthlessly exposes his dietary views as completely backwards and stupid. To forum critisizers, treating the human body as a simple furnace that only processes "numbers of calories"—while ignoring gut health, hormone optimization, bioavailability, and ancestral biology—is the hallmark of a low-IQ conformist. They mock him for having the exact dietary opinions of a basic, government-funded dietician or a mainstream corporate health blogger. His aggressive deletion of comments regarding meat-heavy lifestyles or raw milk proves that he cannot tolerate his rigid, peer-reviewed calorie dogma being shattered by the actual physical realities and lived experiences of his audience.
- The "Normie" Mindset: The community mocks him for having the exact personality and lifestyle opinions of a generic health blogger or a high school gym teacher. They argue that a true societal outsider would explore the fringes of human biology and dietary optimization, whereas a total halfwit moron like him simply repeats what the mainstream media and standard health guidelines tell him is right. His conventionality in this area cements his status as an "NPC" who is entirely incapable of generating an original, independent lifestyle choice.

5. His Gigantic Ego and Authoritarian Comment Censorship: Fragile Megalomania Masked as Objectivity

The ultimate proof of Tails's severe personality flaws is his massive, fragile ego, which manifests in the ruthless censorship of his YouTube comment sections. Forum members point out a glaring psychological irony: while Tails poses as a cold, unfeeling scientist who only cares about "hard truth," his actual behavior is that of a hypersensitive normie who cannot tolerate a single shred of dissent. If a comment slightly diverges from his safe, institutionally backed, or government-approved worldviews, it is immediately deleted or shadow-banned.

- The "Minister of Truth" Persona: Forum memebers argue that Tails curates an artificial echo chamber to protect his delusional self-image as the omniscient "Guru of the Blackpill." When viewers leave highly articulate responses that expose gaps in his logic, question his data pool, or challenge his mainstream secular biases, Tails does not engage in intellectual debate. Instead, he vaporizes the comments. This desperate need to always appear right, untouchable, and intellectually superior is viewed by the community as the definition of an "egotistical piece of shit" with a huge superiority complex.
- Enforcing the Normie Orthodoxy: The community is particularly disgusted by what he chooses to censor. He doesn't just delete obvious spam; he actively scrubs away radical, anti-system, or unconventional theories that go against standard, mainstream sociological and governmental narratives. By aggressively policing his platform to keep it aligned with safe, acceptable, "normie" boundaries, critics argue that he behaves exactly like a corporate HR manager or a mainstream media algorithm.
- The Cowardice of the Shadow-Ban: Rather than outright blocking users—which would show open conflict—Tails is heavily accused of using "shadow-banning" (making a user's comment visible only to themselves). Forum members label this as pure passive-aggressive cowardice. They argue that a true intellectual would let arguments stand and defeat them with logic. Tails' reliance on sneaky algorithmic censorship proves to his detractors that he is a fraud who knows his "midwit" arguments cannot hold up under genuine scrutiny from a highly cynical audience. He demands absolute submission, treating his viewers as mindless creatures who are beneath him, while throwing a silent tantrum the moment someone fractures his fragile ego.

⚖️ The Final Community Verdict: An Absolute "NPC" and a Total Piece of Garbage.

When you aggregate his unoriginal atheism, his blind ideological contradictions, his unwavering trust in institutional science, his classist academic superiority complex, and his thoroughly conventional lifestyle views, the internal forum consensus becomes absolute: Tails is an impostor.

He is not a dark, revolutionary philosopher pulling back the veil on a hidden reality. He is simply a pompous, absolute normie dimwit playing dress-up in an edgy subculture. He has adopted the standard, socially acceptable, middle-class worldview of the modern secular world, wrapped it in a blackpill aesthetic, and weaponized it to fuel his ego and make himself feel intellectually superior over a vulnerable, desperate demographic.